He picked up a giant firecracker, the fuse of which he thought had gone out, and while he held it in his hand it exploded. A considerable quantity of powder flew into his left eye, causing a painful injury. It was at first feared the sight had been destroyed, and he was taken to Washington for treatment by a specialist. The injury was found to be a severe one, but the doctor does not think the sight will be affected. This was the only serious accident that occurred here as a result of the celebration.

SECRETARY ALGER'S ORDER

As indicated in yesterday's Star, the War Department has issued general orders for the organization of ten regiments of volunteers for service in the Philippines. The orders are as tollows:

WAR DEPARTMENT, Washington, July 6, 1899. By direction of the President, the following general rules are prescribed for recruiting, from the country at large, United States volunteers, as provided for by the act of Congress approved March 2, 1899, published in General Orders, No. 36, of 1890, headquarters of the army, adjutant general's office, and for organizing the same into

The strength of regiments, officers and enlisted men, will be as provided for by sections 4 and 12 of the act of Congress approved March 2, 1899.

The regiments to be organized in the United States will be designated 26th, 27th, 28th, 29th, 30th, 31st, 32d, 33d, 34th and 35th Regiments of Infantry, United States

Volunteers.
Of the commissioned officers to be appointed for each of these regiments the field and staff officers, including medical officers, and captains of companies, will be assembled at regimental rendezvous, as hereafter designated, for the purpose of theoretical and practical instruction in organization, military administration, drill regulations, discipline, hygiene, camp sanitation, etc. Daily instruction in the no-menclature, care and assembly of parts of the rifle, and target practice will be a special feature of instruction of both officers and men.

Applicants for commissions, except officers of the regular army, will be required to pass a satisfactory examination as to age, moral, mental and physical fitness, and capacity to command troops, and must have had service during the Spanish-American war.

The recruiting service of the regular army will be charged with recruiting from the country at large men for service in these volunteer regiments, whose enlistments will be made for the period ending June 30, 1901, unless sooner discharged, and without restrictions as to citizenship or educational qualifications, but in all other respects un-der the same rules and regulations as are prescribed for recrulting the regular serv-ice. Except in special cases only unmar-ried men will be enlisted for these regiments. In view of the probable severe ments. In view of the probable severe service of these regiments and the climatic conditions to which they may be subjected, the physical qualification of both officers and enlisted men is of first importance. Only those fully qualified will be appointed or enlisted.

The lieutenants and two of the medical officers of each regiment will, as far as practicable, be assigned to duty as assistants to recruiting officers of the regular

Upon arrival of recruits at the regimental rendezvous, the commanding officers of regiments will assign them to companies, and the appointment and reduction of regiment-al and battailon non-commissioned staff and company non-commissioned officers and other enlisted grades will be governed by the law and army regulations. Each regiment so organized will, for pur-poses of discipline and supply, be subject to the orders of the commanding general of the department in which the rendezvous is located, and the regimental commander will report by telegraph to the adjutant general of the department on his arrival at the regi-mental rendezvous. the appointment and reduction of regiment-

Qualifications for Recruits for Vol-unteers.

The term of service will be for the period ending June 30, 1901, and, as provided in section 12 of the act of March 2, 1899, these enlistments may be made "without restrictions as to citizenship or educational qualifications." In other espects they will be governed by the rules and regulations prescribed for recruiting the regular army.

Applicants for original enlistment must be between the ages of eighteen and thirty-five years, of good character and habits, able-bodied, free from disease and must be able to speak the English language. Soldiers who have served honestly and faith-fully a previous enlistment in the United States army, regular or volunteer, may be re-enlisted within three months from date of discharge, without regard to the maximum age limitation.

No person under eighteen years of age will be enlisted or re-enlisted, and minors between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one must not be enlisted or re-enlisted. one must not be enlisted or re-enlisted without the written consent of father, only surviving parent or legally appointed guardian. Married men will not be enlisted or re-en-listed without special authority from a reg-imental commander or from the adjutant general of the army in the absence of a regimental organization. Such authority will be given only in exceptional cases in the interest of the public service. Applicants will be required to satisfy the recruiting officer regarding age and char-acter. They must defray their own ex-penses to the place of enlistment; their fitness for the military service can only be determined upon examination at a recruitfor infantry the height should not be less than five feet four inches and weight not less than 120 pounds and not more than 190

Recruiting officers are, however, authorized in their discretion to accept desirable applicants who are ten pounds or less over weight or under weight, or who vary not more than a fraction of an inch from the required height or chest measures, if they meet all other requirements and their en-listment is recommended by the medical examiner. In every such case the variation from the normal standard should be care-fully noted on the enlistment paper.

Enlistments.

The enlistment form for volunteers (A. G. O., No. 8, Vols., June 26, 1899) will be used. This blank includes a form for the physical examination of recruits. All enlistments will be as privates, and only one enlistment paper will be made in the case of each volunteer soldier. Enlistment papers will be transmitted to the adjutant general of the army by the recruiting offi-cer on the 10th, 20th and last day of each month, with a tri-monthly report prepared on form A. G. O., No. 29, with the slight modifications necessary to adapt it to the purpose.

Each tri-monthly report will be marked
"U. S. Volunteers," and, with the enlistment papers pertaining thereto, will be mailed to this office in an envelope containing no other matter. Recruiting officers are required to give personal attencers are required to give personal atten-tion to the preparation and forwarding of these reports, as it is of first importance that they be promptly and correctly rendered.

A descriptive and assignment card (A. G. O., No. 9, Vols., June 26, 1890) will be prepared for each recruit enlisted and will be sent to the destination of the recruit, as provided in paragraph 850, army regulations, and the instructions on the card.

Great care must be taken in the preparation of all these blanks. A supply of the same has been mailed to recruiting officers.

Examination of Recruits.

Examination of Recruits.

At a recruiting station where there is no medical officer of the army, regular or volunteer, available to examine applicants for enlistment, general orders, No. 47, of 1800, from this office, will govern. In view of the probable severe service required and the climatic conditions to which men may be subjected, their physical qualification is of first importance, and only those who fully meet the requirements will be en-listed

The outline figure card (A. G. O., No. 8) and the form for the physical examination of a recruit (A. G. O., No. 39) required by existing orders to be sent to the surgeon general of the army in the case of every recruit enlisted for the regular army are not called for in the case of volunteers enlisted under these instructions.

Hospital Stewards. Candidates for appointment as hospital stewards of volunteer regiments must produce certificates of proficiency from a reputable college of pharmacy, and after enlist-ment will be appointed as such by the colonel of the regiment upon the recom-mendation of the surgeon of the regiment, mendation of the surgeon of the regiment, the warrant to be made and the appoint-ment to take effect on the date of enlist-

Army regulations applying to hospital stewards in the regular army, except as herein otherwise provided, will apply to regimental hospital stewards who may be discharged from the service for cause by the Secretary of War, upon the recommendation of a board of three officers convened by the regimental commander to investigate and report upon the case.

and report upon the case. General Provisions.

Until regimental officers have been appointed to the volunteer regiments the commanding officers of the posts designated for rendezvous will take charge of recruits sent there and make all necessary arrangements for their subsistence, quarters, instruction, etc., and they are required to render every possible aid to the officers of volunteers in possible aid to the officers of volunteers in organizing and equipping regiments.

These troops while at the rendezvous will be accounted for on a separate line or lines on the post return, officers to be accounted for by name, and when these troops are organized into companies and regiments they will form a separate command, but the permanent post commander will not be superseded, nor will the existing status of affairs at the post proper and upon the mili-tary reservation be disturbed without in-structions from the War Department. To enable the post commander to comply with this requirement all commanders of volun-teer organizations will furnish a copy of their returns to the commander of the post. When the organization of a company has been completed, two organization rolls, to be signed by the company commander, will at once be prepared, the data therefor to be taken from the descriptive and assignment cards. The blank form of muster-in roll will be used for this purpose. One copy of the roll, with the assignment cards, will be forwarded through the regimental commander to the adjutant general of the army; the other copy to be retained. The men having been properly enlisted and duly sworn, the oath on the roll need not be ad-ministered, nor need the roll be signed by

The officers designated to organize regiments under these rules will at the proper time make requisitions on the several staff departments for arms, equipments, cloth-ing and camp equipage, indicating the point to which supplies are to be sent; and they will keep the adjutant general of the army advised as to the progress of the recruitment and organization of their sevral commands.
